There are more than 10,000 practitioners of homoeopathy in the United States, and their American Institute in 1892, as representative of this great professional body, resolved to erect in the city of Washington a monument in honor of Hahnemann and his achievements. A National Committee was appointed to carry out the undertaking. Meetings of this subsidiary organization were held at stated times in New-York.

great care was taken to decide on each important step of the enterprise, to the end that the best result yet attained for such a project in this country might reward these labors. Accordingly sixty invitations, with expressed limitations, were sent to sculptors throughout the United States and Europe.

As the monument is to stand in an open space approachable from all sides, it is sought to make it attractive from all points of view, and very considerable and intelligent effort has been devoted to the composition on the obverse side. The main lines of the central portion are here receased with a flat curtain wall, divided into

The main lines of the central portion are here repeated with a flat curtain wall, divided into the required scale. Prizes were awarded for the best three. In the selection of these the National Sculpture Society, of which J. Q. A. Ward is president, gave its assistance and advice, and the terms of the competition provided that the monument should take the form of a bronze statue on a granite pedestal, with accessories commemorative of homoeopathy, and that the bust of Hahnemann should be taken for portraiture.

The main lines of the central portion are here repeated with a flat curtain wall, divided into three panels for inscriptions, with a decorated typapanum above the impost substituted for the niche. This and the projecting lines of the amperes form vertical divisions for this elevation, resulting in a well-proportioned and equally balanced architectural composition. In the centre, filling the tympanum of the arch are two figures in bass-relief emblematic of the Science and Art of Medicine, above which in the attica is the date of the erection of the memiral in Roman numerals. The committee of the Institute of Homoeopathy, together with the Advisory Committee of the National Sculpture Society, consisting of Daniel C. French, George E. Bissell and Olin L. Warner, representing the sculptors, and Thomas Hastings and Russell Sturgis the architects, unanimously awarded the first prize to Charles H. Niehaus, who has been successful in many competitions of national importance.

The accepted sketch and specifications provide that the monument shall be built of the finest gray granite, with statue and bass-reliefs of standard bronze. The form is that of the

It is encouraging to say of this monument enterprise that its business management has been remarkably good. There has been a complete absence of petty contention and no sign of favoritism. At the evening session Mayor Strong, President Charles Wilson of the Health Board, and Deputy Commissioner Gibsen, of the Street Cleaning Department, were present, and each spoke.

Mayor Strong praised the women highly for the good work they have done thus far, and said that he personally knew them to be responsible for some of the best improvements the city had enjoyed in the last ten years. "Up to a few years ago." said the Mayor, "our city was the worst managed and the most unsanitary on this hemisphere—with the exception of Chicago—we must always except Chicago to everything. Now our city is one of the best managed in the world. And I have no hesitancy in saying that this change is no doubt due largely to the interests you have taken in municipal affairs. You have been a great help to me. It was through a good woman that my Commissioner of Street Cleaning was presented to me—and I have never regretted that presented to me—and that a most disgraceful condition."

The Pearl Bryan murder was an atroclous one. The headless body of a girl was found in some bushes on a farm in Fort Thomas, Ind. After long investigation the body was identified as that of Pearl Bryan, a pretty young woman, who had lived with her parents at Greencastle, Ind.

Scott Jackson, a medical student, was subsequently arrested for the crime. He had lived at Greencastle, and it came out that he had won the affections of Pearl Bryan and betrayed her. The arrest and trial of Jackson aroused intense interest all through the West. Evidence showed that Jackson had induced the girl to go to Cincinnati that her condition might not be discovered by her friends. She was taken to a hotel in Cincinnati and later to Fort Thomas, where she was found murdered. In the evidence at the trial it was shown that the girl had been beheaded while yet alive.

Among the detained passengers were Messrs Among the detained passengers were Messrs. Creeimaa, Lawrence and Biddle, Cuban war correspondents for New-York City papers, who were ordered to leave Havana by General Weyler. The correspondents were most anxious to proceed with the steamer to the city, but the Health Officer was unable to allow them to go. They were sent to the Hotel Hoffman, in the lower bay. They will be released about 4 p. m. to-day. A JURY TO TRY KILLILEA.

THE PROSECUTION OF THE POLICE CAP-TAIN, ACCUSED OF ACCEPTING A

GRATUITY, OPENED. A jury to try Police Captain Thomas Killilea, before Justice Keogh, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, was obtained yesterday after nearly two days had been spent in the task of sifting candidates for the jury-box. Late in the afternoon the opening address by the prosecution was made, and to-day the taking of evidence will begin.

Twelve jurors were in the box soon after the court opened yesterday, but several of them were sent out on account of peremptory challenges by the prosecution or the defence, and it was not until the challenges on both sides had been used up that the jury was completed. The jurors who will pass upon Captain Killilea's case are the following: Robert Struthers, foreman, insurance, No. 44 Edgecombe-ave.; Max Morganstern, president, No. 25 West Eighty-eighth-st.; William C. Barker, agricultural implements, No. 228 East Ninety-fourthst.; Abraham S. Burtis, milk, No. 327 East Sixtysecond-st.; Max Just, real estate, No. 421 East Ninth-st.; Lyster C. Reighley, drygoods, No. 477 Broome-st.; William R. H. Martin, clothing, No. 114 East Thirty-sixth-st.; John F. Palmer, teas, No. One-hundred-and-twenty-second-st.

Charles L. Hirsh, drug sundries, No. 109 East Sixtyfourth-st.; Charles W. Owston, Standard Oil Company, No. 237 West Eighty-fifth-st.; Charles A. Heltman, butter, No. 141 Hester-st.; Harry B. Livingston, jeweller, No. 53 West Ninety-fifth-st. Austen G. Fox, of special counsel employed by

District-Attorney Fellows to conduct the trials of indicted policemen, opened the case for the prose-cution after the jury had been sworn in. He ex-plained that Captain Killica had been indicted cution after the jury had been sworn in. He explained that Captain Killiea had been indicted about a year ago on the charge of receiving $100 from the manager of Manhattan Field for the better protection of the public at the Yale-Princeton football game on Thanksgiving Day, November 24, 1892. He defined the law on the subject of the acceptance of the gratuity, which it is alleged the defendant took to do what was only his duty to do. Mr. Fox said it was a crime for the defendant to have taken the money for doing his duty, and that this duty should have been performed without even the hope of reward. Mr. Fox said that a witness named Bull would swear to having given the check for $100 to the Captain in the latter's private office, and that Bull then indorsed the check in blank, "Thompson & Bull," so that it would pass current like a banknote. The prosecution would also prove, he said, that the Captain took the check to the saloon of one Stein, in his precinct, and asked Stein to cash it. Stein did not have the money and asked a man in the saloon named Hergman to do so. The latter cashed the check and gave it to his cashler. Mr. Fox said it was unfortunate for the people that Stein was in Europe, but they hoped to prove the transaction without him.

Colonel Fellows said the prosecution did not expect to get beyond the opening yesterday, and court was adjourned until 10:30 a. m. to-day. Justice Keogh warned the jurors not to talk of the cases which was not locked up pending the determination of the case.

CORNELIUS N. BLISS DENIES A STORY ABOUT THE BROADWAY TABERNACLE.

It was reported yesterday that the trustees of the Broadway Tabernacle, at Broadway and Thirtyfourth st., were in correspondence with the Rev Dr. John Watson, of Liverpool, with reference to his accepting the pastorate of the church which Rev. Dr. Henry A. Stimson recently resigned. Dr. Watson is famous both as preacher and author, his pen-name of "Ian Maclaren" being well known.

Cornelius N. Bilss, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the church, said last evening: "There Trustees of the church, said last evening: "There has been no correspondence whatever carried on with any one with a view to filling the pastorate. Nothing whatever has been done in the matter, and probably will not be until fail. The story reported is not true."

Dr. Watson is pastor of the Sefton Park Scotch Presbyterian Church in Liverpool. He will come to this country in September next and will deliver a series of lectures before the Yale Theological School, to which lectureship he has been appointed by the Yale trustees. He will then make a lecturing tour throughout the country.

MRS. SCOFIELD'S SAD FATE.

SHE HAD GRIEVED OVER THE LOSS OF HER HUS-BAND'S BUSINESS UNTIL SHE BECAME DE-MENTED-SOME MYSTERY ABOUT HER DEATH.

William Scoffeld, of Armonk, Westchester County. went to the Morgue in this city yesterday and identified the body of his wife, which was found in the brook at Mosholu Parkway on Wednesday morning. He was accompanied by W. K. Haviland, the postmaster of Armonk, and John Kingston, of No. 835 East One-hundred-and-sixty-eighth-st., from whose house Mrs. Scoffeld disappeared on Tuesday morning. They later went to the Coroner's offic and obtained a permit for the removal of Mrs. Scofield's body from the Morgue, and it was said that arrangements would be made for the burial of the body in Woodlawn to-day. Heart disease was declared to be the cause of her death.

Mrs. Scoffeld was an English woman, and had no children. She had suffered from heart discuse several years. Her husband was a coachman em-ployed by private families in this city for twenty years, and for three years he was in the employ of I. Townsend Burden. Six years ago he went to Armonk and opened a tavern. His business was not prosperous lately, and he decided that he could not pay the large tax under the Raines law. His wife was almost heartbroken when he decided to sell the furniture and move to another place. He hired a hackman to take her to the house of a sell the furniture and move to another place. He hired a hackman to take her to the house of a friend in Tarrytown on Monday, but instead of staying in Tarrytown she took a train for this city and went to the house of Kingston. Her husband was in the city searching for her on Tuesday, after she had disappeared from Kingston's house. Scoffeld said yesterday afternoon: "My wife was a very heavy woman, and in bad health. She could not walk two blocks without her strength giving out. How she got from Mr. Kingston's house to where she was found I cannot imagine, for ordinarily it would have been impossible for her to have walked that distance."

Mr. Havliand said: "I last saw Mrs. Scoffeld on Sunday. She had almost lost her reason worrying over the Raines law. Her husband was going to give up his hotel because he could not pay the increased tax. I was going to sell out his furniture for him, and the poor woman was not able to stand seeing this done. This was why it was thought best to send her away on a visit. I hardly think that she met with foul play, but it is hard to account for the brulses on her body."

SPECIAL SERVICES AT TRINITY.

THE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CONSECRA-TION OF THE PRESENT BUILDING.

The Ascension Day services in Old Trinity yes-terday were of peculiar interest, inasmuch as the day was the fiftieth anniversary of the consecra-Wall-st. The church was crowded at the morning service, which was marked by special music. The chancel choir was largely reinforced, and there was an orchestra of thirty-six pieces. The altar and chancel were beautifully decorated with flowers and palms. In the procession were the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix and W. H. Vibbert, the Rev. Messrs. J W. Hill, A. W. Griffin, R. M. Kemp, J. H. Knowles and other clergymen connected with Trinity parish. The Rev. J. W. Hill was master of ceremonies. The processional was: "O God of God! O, Light of Light!" which was dedicated to Dr. Messiter, the chief organist of Trinity Church. The introit was the chorus, "Lift Up Your Heads," from "The Messiah," and the offertory was Hammel's "Alma Virgo," set to English words by Dr. Messiter. The recessional was the hymn, "Crown Him With Many Crowns."

Dr. Messiter directed the music from the chancel and the assistant organist, Victor Baler, kept time with him in the organ loft. Mr. Baler had charge of the orchestra of thirty-six pieces. Professor Frutchey played the great organ, and Professor Frutchey played the great organ, and Professor Hedden the smaller organ in the chancel. In addition to the regular choir of boys and men there were Mrs. Warren R. Hedden, who was the soprano soloist, and several volunteer singers. Becthoven's Mass in C was sung by the choir.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, who took for his text Psalms xxix, 10. "The Lord sitteth upon the flood; yea, the Lord sitteth upon the flood; yea, the Lord sitteth King forever." Dr. Dix said that it was appropriate that Ascension Day and the fiftieth anniversary of the present Trinity Church building should be jointly celebrated. Next year, he said, the parish would celebrate a much more important date in the history of Old Trinity—the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Trinity Parish. It is the intention of the officers of Trinity Parish to make that celebration an occasion of National importance. Prominent people from all parts of the country will be invited to attend.

COTTON MARKET DULL, BUT STRONG.

The cotton market remained practically stationary yesterday, though it was four points over Wednes-day at one time and closed at one point net gain for the day. The business was restricted, only 91,609 bales being sold. August ranged between 8.07 and 8.12, clos-ing at 8.13. The news was of a kind that would have depressed prices under ordinary circumstances. Liverpool was lower, though spot sales there were in-creased 10,000 bales. The port movement continued free. Rains were reported over a large part of the cotton belt, including Texas, where rain was needed badly. But Mr. Inman was believed to be picking up more cotton, and there were fears of a frost wave dipping down into the cotton country in the Southwest. These circumstances held the market steady. Spot cotton was 1-16 cent lower here. The spot sales in the South were in moderate volume. New-Orleans sold 1,150 bales, Augusta 1,050 and Memphis 900. Exports so far this week have been about 23,000 bales, against port receipts of 30,000 bales. Port receipts will exceed the receipts of the corresponding Bombay receipts for the week were 65,000 bales, against 75,000 last year, but the shipments to Europe were 56,000 bales, against 37,000 last year. New-Orleans, May 14.- In the largest section of Southwest Texas, south of Waco, there has been no rain or very light showers. The Georgia report says the drouth causes slow growth of cotton. tailed Arkansas report reads differently from the telegraphed summary. All the districts complain of rain being very much needed to bring up late cotton. Arkansas had rain yesterday, but it will not prevent the crop being late. In Gollad County, South Texas, weevil reported ruining the young plant. San Antonio reports half the cotton will have plant. San Antonio reports half the cotton will have to be replanted, and cutworms are devasting the crop. Same conditions exist in other counties.

The reports of the Gulf and Colorado agents make Texas 21 per cent increase over two years ago. On examination this is nonsense. Deduct the Indian Territory claim and it leaves Texas 12 per cent increase. The report is valueless when the Weatherford section reports 60 per cent increase, while Cleburne, Temple and Navasota sections show no increase; Fort Worth and Paris, 4 per cent increase. Columbus Ga., May 14.—Some of the largest plantations near here have been without a drop of rain since cotton was planted, and replanting is necessary in many instances.

A BURGLAR CHASED OVER ROOFS. A man who described himself as Charles F. Bart-

ett, twenty-eight years old, of No. 210 East Twenty first-st., but who, from letters found in his posses sion, is believed to be G. W. Gunn, of St. Louis, was held in $1,500 bail in the Yorkville Police Court yes terday, to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of having committed burglary at the of Charles E. Fisher, an actor, at No. 486 Second-ave. Fisher and his wife were asleep when the prisoner s alleged to have entered their apartments, on the first floor, and secured three rings and two theatrical first floor, and secured three rings and two theatrical wigs. He was surprised by George W. Gates, who keeps a clothing store on the ground floor. The burglar fled, followed by Gates, who caught him in the street, but was unable to hold him. Gates shouted for the police, and the fugitive, re-entering the house, made his way to the roof, followed by Policeman McCauley, of the East Thirty-fifth-st. station. After a chase over the roofs of several houses the burglar made his way to the cellar of one, where he was recaptured.

HELD FOR VIOLATING THE SUNDAY LAW. John J. Walsh, president; John P. Boyle, cap-tain, and Henry Fribourg, trustee, of the Pastime Athletic Club, who had been arrested for violation of the Sunday law, were taken to Yorkville Court yesterday. They waived examination, and were held in $100 bail each for Special Sessions. The club gave an exhibition of boxing, running and sparring in its grounds on Sunday last.

Wells, Davis, Fordham Morris, Judge Ernes, Hall. De Witt C. Overbaugh, A. C. Butts and Colone J. A. Goulden. Letters of regret were read from Henry Lewis Morris and General Franz Sigel, who were unable to be present. It was resolved that the building of the Board should be suitably draped and the Executive Committee select a date of which should be pronounced a formal eulogy of the life and services of the late president of the engaging titor.

which should be president of the organization.

The funeral of Mr. De La Vergne was held resterday afternoon at St. James's Episcopal Church. Seventy-first-st. and Madison-ave. at 4 elock. The Rev. E. W. Warren, rector of the church, officiated. Fully five hundred persons were present. The employes of the Refrigerator Works were largely represented. The various associations and clubs to which Mr. De La Vergne belonged as well as personal friends, sent floral emblems, so that the space below the chancel where the coffin resiel was a mass of flowers.

The Episcopal service was read by Dr. Warren. The organist and full choir of St. James's rendered the music. The hymns "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me" were sung. There were no pall-bearers.

Among those present were Controlly Asbel, P. Flitch and family. Thomas K. Egbert, Gearal Williams, Jordan L. Mott. James Contable, lacob Ruppert and Edward Schaeffer.

After the services the body was removed to the Grand Central Station, whence it was taken to Esperance, Schoharie County, for burial.
